Hackettstown BID Speaker Series April 2026

“Waste and Recycling is no Funny business!”

Join us to network with fellow BID members and find answers to your waste and recycling questions.

Food provided by Mama's and beverages by Living Spirit & Czig Meister

- Can my business earn money from recycling?
- Are sorted recyclables better than single-stream recycling?
- What happens to my waste and recycling after Sanico collects it?
- Is there really an island made up of our rinsed peanut butter jars?
- Do recycling trucks and garbage trucks meet up and dump everything together when no one's watching?
- Do they have a "Wall of Shame" with my picture because I keep putting pizza boxes in the recycling?

While reality is less dramatic, it's still quite interesting—don't miss out on this insightful and humorous information "dump!"

Les Moore

Les Moore is a Senior Sales Manager at Sanico Inc., providing waste and recycling collection and hauling services in Northwest New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania since 1973.

Les provides consulting services for waste and recycling, with a focus on commercial and industrial waste, including cardboard, metals, plastics, medical waste, wastewater, and composting. He listens attentively to understand your needs and offers practical solutions. Whether you face complex waste issues, require specialty services, or want to enhance your recycling program, Les is here to assist you.

When not lurking around compactors behind local hospitals, grocery stores, and factories, Les enjoys traveling, camping, and attending concerts with his wife, Lori, and their two award-winning musician daughters.
